

PBS HOME

PROGRAMS A-Z

TV SCHEDULES

WATCH VIDEO

SUPPORT PBS

SHOP PBS

SEARCH PBS

The Web site of the NewsHour with Jim Lehrer

E-mail This Page Print This Page

BROWSE BY RECENT PROGRAMS LOCAL TV LISTINGS SUBSCRIPTIONS TEACHER RESOURCES Search

GO

Arts and Entertainment Archive

ART BEAT

- VISUAL
- FILM
- LITERATURE
- MUSIC
- CULTURE
- PERFORMING

« Previous Entry | Blog Main | Next Entry »

music

Conversation: Patti Smith Reflects on the Life of Her Friend, Jim Carroll

Posted by Jeffrey Brown, September 14, 2009

Jim Carroll, the poet and punk rocker who wrote "The Basketball Diaries," died Friday at age 60 from a heart attack. In the 1970s, Carroll was a beloved fixture of the burgeoning New York art scene, where he mixed with artists such as Andy Warhol, Larry Rivers, Robert Mapplethorpe and Patti Smith. It was Smith who first encouraged Carroll to blend his poetry with rock 'n' roll, bringing him on stage to perform his work with her band. He went on to form the Jim Carroll Band. I talked to Patti Smith about her friend Jim Carroll by phone earlier Monday:

Make a Comment | Read Comments 8 | Email | + Del.icio.us | + Facebook | + Digg

Comments

Posted:

09/14/09 at

07:07 PM

Ric Garrido : I met Jim as Catholic Boy while punking in 1980. In 1980 it seemed like all my friends would die, die. We didn't die so fast. We stayed and moved on. Move on Jim. Thinking of you today.

Posted:

09/14/09 at

08:08 PM

Brad : Wow, what a loss. I only knew Jim through 'Catholic boy', that my party buddy in the USAF turned me on to. There is not another record like that one. It was a great time in my life and a great record to learn what lay past classic rock. I suggest people FIND and listen to that one. Thanks Patti and R.I.P. Jim.

Posted:

09/14/09 at

08:49 PM

Kieran Dooley : I enjoyed your interview with Patti Smith about Jim Carroll because it focused on his poetry and artistic gifts while not ignoring his personal afflictions and tribulations. Both Patti Smith and Jim Carroll are important artist to me. Your interview was unexpected and appreciated. Thanks.

Posted:

09/15/09 at

10:45 AM

Tom Savage : I met Jim Carroll many times at the Poetry Project over 20 or 30 years. He was a great poet and at least a good rock musician. He also was a nice man. At a time when I was virtually unknown, he always seemed to remember me and was nice to me. No air of celebrity about him at all.

Posted:

09/15/09 at

07:21 PM

kevin morris : oh Jim, i will miss you and your words. EVERYTHING MOVES SO FAST

Posted:

09/15/09 at

09:19 PM

Armida S. Thomson : Jeffrey Brown - thank you! It was great to hear Patti's recollections about Jim Carroll. He will be missed.

Posted:

Broadcast Reports

Decades Later, Beatles Hits Continue to Draw Fans

Jeffrey Brown speaks with NPR music critic Tim Riley about the Beatles' influence decades later.

Search this Blog

SEARCH

Arts Correspondent

Jeffrey Brown

Correspondent Jeffrey Brown covers all things art and entertainment in these online exclusive reports.

» Bio

Best of the Beat

Visual

Celebrating a Duchamp Masterwork

FILM

Conversation: Whit Stillman

Literature

Conversation: Josh Neufeld Revisits Katrina

Music

Conversation: Patti Smith Reflects on the Life of Her Friend, Jim Carroll

Culture

Conversation: Matthew Crawford, Author of 'Shop Class as Soulcraft'

Performing

Jessye Norman, the Roots Team Up for Langston Hughes' 'Ask Your Mama'

For Teachers

Lesson plans, student voices and a teacher community devoted to bringing

09/16/09 at 12:25 AM

Deb Hopkins : Thank you for covering the passing of Jim Carroll. I enjoyed hearing about Jim the poet. I only knew him as a rocker/poet. My band (The Contractions) opened for the Jim Carroll band several times in 1980-81. Jim and the band always treated us (an all female band) with great respect and were a blast to be with. I am glad to hear he passed doing what he loved. Thank you Patti.

Posted: 09/16/09 at 09:09 PM

Mary Greer : I knew Jim when he lived in Bolinas. Patti's words matched the person I knew a sweet, gentle soul who spent more time with his dog than with people but whose every thought, every breath moved around and through poetry. Patti, your phone calls to him were a life-line between the cocoon and the world outside and helped him know there was something else waiting for him.

Post a Comment:

(The Online NewsHour encourages readers to comment on our blog posts. We seek comments that are brief, on topic, civil, truthful and not abusive. We pre-moderate comments, so it might take some time for your comment to appear. Thanks for waiting.)

Name: (required, pseudonym ok)

Email address: (required, will not be published)

Comment:

Submit

arts coverage into the classroom.

TEACHER ARTS ARCHIVE

NewsHour Poetry Series

An exploration of the role of poetry in society and profiles of contemporary poets, with streaming video and downloadable readings.

MAIN POETRY PAGE

Weekly Poem: 'Erasers'

Weekly Poem: 'Physical Portrait / Retrato fisico'

Brought to you in part by:

National Endowment for the Arts

TheJoyceFoundation

Poetry Foundation

ABOUT US | FEEDBACK | SUBSCRIPTIONS / FEEDS: POD | RSS

Support the kind of journalism done by the NewsHour...Become a member of your local PBS station.

Funded, in part, by:

PBS Online Privacy Policy

Copyright ©1996-2009 MacNeil/Lehrer Productions. All Rights Reserved.